

CHICATA SEPTEMBER MEETING ANNOUNCEMENT

Are you interested in networking with translators who share your language combination?

Join us on September 27 at the Sulzer Library for this year's

LANGUAGE GROUPS MEETING

The survey showed many members are interested in meeting colleagues who share their same language combinations. The purpose of this session is to foster networking and to encourage translators to work in groups, to ask colleagues' opinions or accept suggestions, to polish the translated piece in the best way possible, and to learn as much as possible from one another.

We'll meet on Saturday, September 27
at Sulzer Library (4455 N. Lincoln Avenue) - Auditorium from 2:30 pm to 5:00 pm*

We'll split into language groups, each group will pick a text in English and will translate it into its working language.

Remember that document that drove you crazy,
that was ambiguous in English,
very challenging to translate?
Try to find it, send it to us as a sample (in advance so that we can make copies) and please erase all confidential information.

Feel free to bring monolingual/bilingual or grammar/style books.

Send samples to: Erika Kugler at erikakugler@sbcglobal.net

Be ready to learn from your colleagues and to contribute as much as you can.

This is a great opportunity to get to know your colleagues better, have fun and celebrate the upcoming International Translators' Day.

We'll meet for dinner at La Bocca della Verita (4818 N Lincoln Avenue)
after the meeting
